    section 26(2) instead of section 26(3)(a).

(5) If, because of the change, the examination will be conducted at a place that is not an authorised hospital instead of an authorised

   (1) A medical practitioner or authorised mental health practitioner
       may make an order authorising the continuation of the person’s detention for up to 24 hours from the time when the order under section 61(1)(a) or (c) is made if satisfied that, because of the person’s mental or physical condition, the person needs to be detained to enable the person to be taken to the hospital.

   (2) A medical practitioner or authorised mental health practitioner
       may, immediately before the end of the period of detention authorised under subsection (1) or any further period of detention authorised under this subsection in respect of the person, make an order authorising the continuation of the person’s detention for up to 24 hours from the end of that period person unless —

       (a) immediately before making the order, the practitioner assesses the person; and
(b) as a consequence, the practitioner is satisfied that,

because of the person’s mental or physical condition, the under it.

(9) The person cannot continue to be detained if, by the end of a period of detention authorised under this section in respect of

(b) no other safe means of taking the person is reasonably available.

(3) Part 10 applies in relation to the transport order.

Subdivision 3 — Inpatient treatment order authorising detention at general hospital

64. Application of this Subdivision

This Subdivision applies in relation to an involuntary inpatient under an inpatient treatment order made under section 61(1)(a) or 131(2)(a) authorising the involuntary inpatient’s detention at a general hospital.

(c) any other medical or surgical treatment being provided to the involuntary inpatient at the general hospital.

(1) Once the treating psychiatrist is satisfied that attempting to take practicable, the treating psychiatrist must make an order (a transfer order) authorising the inpatient’s transfer to the authorised hospital specified in the order.

(2) In deciding whether or not there is still a significant risk to the involuntary inpatient’s physical health, the treating psychiatrist

67. Making transport order

(1) A psychiatrist may make a transport order in respect of an inpatient who is under a transfer order made under section 66(1).

(2) The psychiatrist cannot make the transport order unless satisfied that no other safe means of taking the involuntary inpatient to the authorised hospital is reasonably available.

(3) Part 10 applies in relation to the transport order.

68. Confirmation of inpatient treatment order

(1) This section applies if—

(a) the psychiatrist who conducted the examination for the purpose of making the inpatient treatment order and the involuntary inpatient were not in one another’s physical presence when that examination was conducted; and

(b) since that examination was conducted, there has been no further examination of the involuntary inpatient conducted by a psychiatrist during which the psychiatrist and the inpatient were in one another’s physical presence.

(2) Within 24 hours after the involuntary inpatient is admitted by the authorised hospital in accordance with the transfer order, the inpatient treatment order must be confirmed by a psychiatrist at the authorised hospital.

(3) The psychiatrist cannot confirm the inpatient treatment order without examining the involuntary inpatient.

(4) Subdivision 6 applies in relation to the conduct of the examination.
(5) The confirmation must be in the approved form and must include the following — person cannot be consulted about those matters.

(10) The conditions imposed under subsection (9) may include conditions about the involuntary inpatient doing any of these things —

(2) The treating psychiatrist must consider whether it would be appropriate to make an order under section 90(1) in respect of the inpatient.

(3) For the purpose of subsection (2), the treating psychiatrist may make any inquiries the psychiatrist considers appropriate.

109. Changing involuntary inpatient’s status while inpatient on leave

(1) This section applies if, while an involuntary inpatient is away from a hospital on leave of absence, the treating psychiatrist is given a written opinion from another medical practitioner or a mental health practitioner to the effect that the involuntary inpatient is no longer in need of an inpatient treatment order.

Division 3 — Operation of order

116. Duration of order

A community treatment order remains in force until the first of these things occurs —

(a) the supervising psychiatrist; or

(b) another medical practitioner or a mental health practitioner —

(i) if the supervising psychiatrist is unavailable; or

(ii) if requested by the supervising psychiatrist under section 119(1).

(3) However, the involuntary community patient cannot be examined by a practitioner under subsection (2)(b) if more than 2 months has elapsed since the day on which the patient was last examined under subsection (2)(a) by the supervising psychiatrist.

(4) Part 6 Division 3 Subdivision 6 applies in relation to the conduct of an examination under subsection (2).

(5) A practitioner who examines the involuntary community patient under subsection (2)(b) must provide the supervising psychiatrist with a written report of the examination that includes a recommendation about whether or not, having regard to the criteria specified in section 25, the patient is still in need of an involuntary treatment order.

   (b) on provision of a report about the involuntary community patient to the supervising psychiatrist under section 118(5).

(2) The supervising psychiatrist must consider whether or not the involuntary community patient is still in need of an involuntary treatment order and may make either of these orders —

   (a) if satisfied, having regard to the criteria specified in section 25, that the involuntary community patient is still in need of an involuntary treatment order but not satisfied of the things referred to in section 114(a) and (b) — an inpatient treatment order authorising the patient’s detention at the authorised hospital specified in the order for the period specified in the order in accordance with section 87(a) or (b); or

   (b) if satisfied, having regard to the criteria specified in section 25, that the involuntary community patient is no longer in need of an involuntary treatment order — an order revoking the community treatment order.

(6) The supervising psychiatrist must, as soon as practicable, file the order and give a copy to the involuntary community patient.

(7) The making of an order under subsection (2) is an event to which Part 9 applies and the supervising psychiatrist is the person responsible under that Part for notification of that event.

A community treatment order is automatically revoked under section 116(a) if a psychiatrist makes an inpatient treatment order under section 120(2)(a), or under section 116(b) if a psychiatrist makes an inpatient treatment order under any other provision of this Act, in respect of the involuntary community patient.
Continuation order

(1) The supervising psychiatrist may, on or within 7 days before the day on which a treatment period ends, make an order (a continuation order) continuing the community treatment order from the end of the treatment period for the further treatment period (not exceeding 3 months) that is specified in the continuation order.

(5) The involuntary community patient may request in writing the supervising psychiatrist to obtain the opinion (a further opinion) of another psychiatrist about whether it is appropriate to have continued the community treatment order by making the continuation order (but not whether the length of the treatment period specified in the continuation order is appropriate).

(6) Sections 182 and 184 apply (with the necessary changes) in relation to the further opinion.
(7) The continuation order does not come into force or ceases to be in force, as the case requires, if the further opinion —
   (a) is not obtained on or within 14 days after the day on which the involuntary community patient’s request is received by the supervising psychiatrist; or
   (b) does not confirm that it is appropriate to have continued the community treatment order.

(8) Subsection (7) does not apply if the further opinion is not obtained within the 14-day period referred to in subsection (7)(a) because the involuntary community patient did not attend an examination to be conducted by the psychiatrist responsible for giving the further opinion.

122. Varying order

(3) The supervising psychiatrist can make an order revoking the community treatment order —

(a) after examining the involuntary community patient in accordance with Part 6 Division 3 Subdivision 6; or

(a) if, when the order is made, the involuntary patient is an adult — the period of 35 days from the day on which the order is made; or

(b) if, when the order is made, the involuntary patient is a child — the period of 10 days from the day on which the order is made.

(2) Unless subsection (4) or (5) applies, as soon as practicable after an involuntary treatment order is made and, in any event, by the end of the initial review period, the Tribunal must review the order to decide whether or not the involuntary patient is still in need of the involuntary treatment order having regard to the criteria specified in section 25.

(3) It is sufficient for compliance with subsection (2) if the review is commenced in accordance with that provision and is completed as soon as practicable.

(4) The Tribunal is not required to review the order under subsection (2) if the involuntary patient has not, under section 387, been an involuntary patient continuously since the order was made.

(5) The Tribunal is not required to review the order under subsection (2) if —

subject of the proceeding was made, the involuntary patient was a child — 7 days before the day on which that period ends.

(2) Unless subsection (4) applies, the Tribunal must, on or within the prescribed number of days before the day on which a periodic review period for an involuntary treatment order ends, review the order to decide whether or not the involuntary patient is still in need of the involuntary treatment order having regard to the criteria specified in section 25.

(3) It is sufficient for compliance with subsection (2) if a review is commenced in accordance with that provision and is completed as soon as practicable.

whole period; or would otherwise have ended for the further period (not exceeding the maximum extension period) specified in the order.

responsibility, to decide whether or not the transfer of responsibility or the refusal to do so is appropriate;

responsibility as the treating practitioner under a community treatment order, or a refusal to transfer that

(5) For subsection (4), the prescribed period is —

(a) if, on the day on which the decision is made, the involuntary patient is an adult — the period of 28 days; or order in any way that is consistent with section 115.

(3) The Tribunal cannot make an order or give a direction under subsection (1) in relation to an involuntary patient’s treatment, practitioner at the hospital where the person was detained under the inpatient treatment order and authorising the person’s detention there for up to the period specified in the order to enable the necessary or convenient to give effect to the Tribunal’s order) as if the Tribunal’s order were an order made under section 34(1).

(2) If the Tribunal declares that a community treatment order is invalid, the community treatment order ceases to be in force.

(3) If the Tribunal declares that a continuation order made under ceases to be in force and the involuntary treatment order expires when it would have expired had the continuation order not been made.

(a) there has been a failure to comply with the requirements of this Act in relation to —

(i) the making of the treatment order; or

(ii) the conduct of any assessment or examination, or the making of any referral or order, that led to the making of the treatment order;
