(b) ceases when a new resident of the residential premises becomes liable to pay the recurrent charges.

(6) The administering body must not seek to recover from the residents of the retirement village, by increasing the recurrent charges payable by them or by demanding or receiving from them any additional fee or charge, any amount payable by the administering body under subsection (5).

(a) the administering body and the former resident agree to a rate of interest that is lower than the rate referred to in subsection (5)(b); or

(b) the former resident's residence contract specifies a rate of interest for the purposes of this section that is lower than the rate referred to in subsection (5)(b), interest is payable by the former resident at that lower rate.

(7) If the effect of the election under subsection (2) is to defer the payment by a former resident of any recurrent charges, the administering body —

(a) must pay the recurrent charges at the time when the former resident would have been required to pay those charges apart from subsection (2); and

(b) may deduct the amount paid from the premium that is repayable to the former resident.

(8) A former resident is to be taken to have paid any recurrent charges in respect of which a deduction is made from the premium that is repayable to the former resident.
