

NO-FAULT INSURANCE SCHEME — TREASURY GREEN PAPER

341. Dr A.D. BUTI to the Treasurer:

I refer to the answer given on behalf of the Treasurer in the other house yesterday, in which he said that the Insurance Commission of WA's costing of the no-fault compulsory third party insurance scheme is only for the care of people catastrophically injured in a crash.

- (1) Can the Treasurer confirm that there will be no cost shifting from the Disability Services Commission onto motorists when he introduces the no-fault CTP scheme?
- (2) Can the Treasurer confirm whether he asked Treasury and/or ICWA to investigate cost shifting from the Disability Services Commission to ICWA for a no-fault CTP scheme?
- (3) Will the Treasurer guarantee there will be no cost shifting, double dipping or extra taxes on motorists when his no-fault CTP scheme is introduced?

Dr M.D. NAHAN replied:

- (1)–(3) I thank the member for the question. We have made no announcement on the no-fault program. We have done a lot of work on it. We have had an extensive consultation process and a green paper—over 3 000 people made submissions on it—and we will make a decision about it in the budget and the details will be —

Dr A.D. Buti: Answer the question!

Dr M.D. NAHAN: That is the answer—and the budget will be announced.
