

SCHOOLS — HIGHGATE PRIMARY SCHOOL

96. Mr P.J. RUNDLE to the Minister for Education:

I have a supplementary question. I know exactly where I stand: I stand with the parents and families.

Several members interjected.

The DEPUTY SPEAKER: Members!

Mr P.J. RUNDLE: Labor has been in government for seven years. The minister admitted that it could take four or more years to deliver a new school. What solutions will the minister deliver over the next four years for those staff, students and families?

Dr A.D. BUTI replied:

As I said, we are looking at this very closely, and there are a number of possibilities. We are a thinking, mature, responsible, logical government that goes through a proper process. When that is done, the member will hear about our measures.
