

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AMENDMENT BILL 2020

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM

Introduction

The Environmental Protection Amendment Bill 2020 amends the Environmental Protection Act 1986 (EP Act) to improve and update it by streamlining and improving regulatory processes for the protection of the environment in Western Australia. The Bill also makes minor, consequential amendments to other Acts.

The Bill will be supported by amendments to the Environmental Protection Regulations 1987, Environmental Protection (Clearing of Native Vegetation) Regulations 2004 and the making of new regulations necessary to implement the reforms.

The main areas of reform in the Bill are:

- Improving regulatory processes under Part IV to streamline the administrative efficiency of the environmental impact assessment process, and reducing duplication of assessments and approvals.
- Introducing cost recovery provisions relating to Part IV.
- Clarification of provisions dealing with strategic assessments using terminology consistent with that used in other jurisdictions. These amendments will provide clarity and align the Environmental Protection Authority's (EPA) ability to conduct strategic assessments with similar processes in other jurisdictions.
- Amending Part V Division 2 to ensure the clearing provisions are efficient, targeted, flexible and transparent while ensuring the protection of native vegetation with important environmental values.
- Amending Part V Division 3 to improve the efficiency of regulation of emissions and discharges.
- Modernising and improving defences, investigation and enforcement powers, and providing for enhanced modified penalties.
- Introducing a new Part to provide for environmental protection covenants to which the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) may enter under conditions made for Part IV (proposals) and Part V Division 2 (clearing permits).
- Providing a new Part VIIB which enables regulations to be made for the development of environmental monitoring programs to address cumulative environmental impacts in particular areas or from certain industries and to recover the costs of monitoring.
- Facilitating and streamlining the implementation of bilateral assessment and approval agreements under the Commonwealth Environment Protection and Biodiversity Conservation Act 1999, including fees for cost recovery.
- Amending appeal provisions to improve consistency.

- Establishing consistent transparency and publication requirements throughout the EP Act, providing a head power for a system for the accreditation of environmental practitioners, and increasing penalties for certain environmental offences.

Part 1 – Preliminary

Clause 1: Short title

This clause provides the short title of the Bill.

Clause 2: Commencement

The clause provides for the commencement of the Bill and specifies when the Environmental Protection Amendment Act 2020 will come into operation. Different parts of the Act may come into operation on different dates set by Royal Assent or fixed by proclamation.

Some of the proposed amendments will commence once the regulations required to implement particular reforms have been developed.

Part 2 – Environmental Protection Act 1986 amended

Clause 3: Act amended

This clause specifies that the amendments relate to the EP Act.

Amendments to Part I of the EP Act – Preliminary

Clause 4: Section 3 amended

This clause inserts new defined terms used in the Bill, amends existing defined terms, and deletes defined terms that are no longer required.

Many of the changes are a result of amendments to processes under Part IV; the reform of regulation of emissions and discharges in Part V Division 3 of the Act; and the introduction of new Parts into the EP Act.

Clause 4(4) defines the term “Ministerial Statement” to refer to the implementation agreement or decision made under Part IV, to accord with common terminology.

It also introduces a new section 3(1B) into the EP Act which states that the effect of a proposal on the environment includes its cumulative impacts. While this has been the understanding of the current provisions, this is now clarified.

The term “cumulative impacts” relies on its ordinary meaning, which may change over time in a similar manner to the term “significant” used in the EP Act.

Clause 5 Section 3A amended

The definition of “threshold amount” in section 3A, for the purposes of the definitions of material and serious environmental harm, is increased from $20,000 to $100,000.

This is based on stakeholder feedback that the cost of dealing with incidents on remote sites is largely related to the cost of getting equipment to site and does not reflect the environmental significance of the harm.

An offence of material harm can be established regardless of the threshold amount, where it is proved that the harm is neither trivial nor negligible (material environmental harm) or is irreversible, of a high impact, on a wide scale, is significant or in an area of high conservation value or special significance (serious environmental harm).

Amendments to Part II of the EP Act – Environmental Protection Authority

Clause 6: Section 7 amended

This clause amends section 7 in order to modernise publication requirements and to introduce gender neutral language when referring to Environmental Protection Authority (EPA) members, Chair (previously Chairman) and Deputy Chair (previously Deputy Chairman).

The practice of advertising certain decisions or information can continue if this is desired.

Clause 7: Section 8 replaced

This clause amends section 8 to use the terms Chair instead of Chairman and Deputy Chair instead of Deputy Chairman.

Clause 8 Section 11 replaced

Subsections (3) and (6) of section 11 allow for meetings of the EPA to be convened and attended remotely including by teleconferencing, videoconferencing, virtual meeting software or any other method which allows for instantaneous communication.

Section 11 has also been amended to make minor drafting improvements and incorporate gender neutral language.

Clause 9 Section 14 amended

This clause deletes section 14(2) and replaces it with a requirement to publish minutes rather than make them available for inspection. Regulations will prescribe the manner of publication.

Clause 10 Section 14A inserted

This clause inserts a new section 14A, which allows for the EPA to make decisions out of session without a meeting being held. The proposed decision must be sent by notice from the Chair or Deputy Chair to each member, and the members vote on the matter by written notice. Records must be kept of all decisions made under this section.

Clause 11 Section 16 amended

This clause deletes section 16(aa), which currently refers to the EPA's functions in facilitating the implementation of bilateral agreements. This is now dealt with in the new Part VIIIA.

Clause 12 Section 17 amended

This clause deletes section 17(4), which allows the EPA to consider matters relating to bilateral agreements in the exercise of its functions. This is now dealt with in the new Part VIIIA.

Amendments to Part III of the EP Act – Environmental Protection Policies*Clause 13 Section 26 amended*

Section 26(1)(d), which sets out the publication requirements in respect of a draft environmental protection policy, has been deleted and replaced with a new subsection. The new section 26(1)(d) is now less prescriptive as it is intended to deal with publication requirements in regulations.

Clause 14 Section 32 amended

This clause makes consequential changes to section 32 as a result of the removal of section 26(1)(d) by clause 13.

Amendments to Part IV of the EP Act – Environmental Impact AssessmentDivision 1 – Referral and assessment of proposals*Clause 15 Sections 37B to 38A replaced*

This clause deletes section 37B, 38 and 38A and replaces them with new sections 37B, 38, 38A, 38B, 38C, 38D, 38E, 38F, 38G, 38I.

Divisions 1 and 2 of Part IV have been re-drafted and reformatted to address stakeholder submissions that the current Division is unclear and difficult to follow.

In addition to drafting improvements to achieve greater clarity, the Bill makes the following substantial amendments to the current provisions.

The new section 38B(2) provides additional exceptions to the requirement that a proposal cannot be referred more than once, where the referral or Ministerial Statement has been withdrawn. This allows a withdrawn referral or approved proposal with a withdrawn Ministerial statement to be referred again if the proponent wishes to do so.

The new section 38C allows a proponent to apply to the EPA to amend a referred proposal before a decision is made on whether it will be assessed. There is currently no explicit power for a referral to be amended. This causes problems where a referral does not accurately capture the proposal (in the case of third party referral for example), or where the proponent has materially changed its plans for the proposal. The EPA has a discretion on whether to accept the request.

A new section 38D allows a proponent to notify the EPA that a referred proposal is not proceeding, in which case the referral is taken to have been withdrawn.

The new section 38E amends the terminology for strategic proposals and includes the term 'strategic assessment' to align with the Commonwealth Environment Protection and Biodiversity Conservation Act 1999. Section 38E(10) clarifies that the proponent of the strategic proposal may not be the same as the proponent or proponents of derived proposals.

The new section 38F amends the "stop-the-clock" provision currently found in section 38A(2) where the EPA requests further information in order to decide whether to assess a referred proposal. The new provision clarifies that the 28-day period for the EPA to make a decision is only paused during the time specified in the notice. It does not continue indefinitely if no response is received, nor restart each time a notice is given.

The new section 38G(1)(b)(iii) gives the EPA the power to make its own determination as to which decision-making authorities are relevant to a proposal and must therefore be given a notice of the decision to assess. This streamlines notification requirements so that the EPA is not required to notify every decision-maker with a decision making role in relation to the proposal unless the decision is relevant to the proposal's environmental impact.

The new section 38G(2) provides that the EPA does not have to make a decision on whether to assess a proposal where the referral has been withdrawn.

The new section 38G(4) clarifies that the EPA may take into account other statutory decision-making processes in determining whether a proposal should be assessed.

The new section 38I clarifies that the responsibility for a proposal can be transferred to a new proponent, both during assessment and after a Ministerial Statement has been published. During assessment, the decision is for the EPA. After the Ministerial Statement has been published, the decision is made by the Minister.

Clause 16 Section 39 replaced

This clause deletes section 39 and inserts a new section 39. There is no longer a requirement to record the level of assessment determined, as this term is not used in the EP Act, and the EPA has moved away from prescriptive levels of assessment in favour of greater flexibility in assessment approaches.

The ability to request that information not be kept on the public record has been removed as confidentiality claims will now be dealt with in regulations.

Clause 17 Sections 39A and 39B deleted

This clause deletes section 39A and 39B. These provisions are now in new sections 38G and 38E, respectively.

Clause 18 Section 40 amended

This clause deletes and replaces section 40(4) and (5). The ability to request that information is not published has been removed as confidentiality claims will be dealt with in regulations.

Clause 19 Section 40AA inserted

This clause provides for the assessment of significant amendments. The current provisions of the EP Act define a proposal to include an amendment to a proposal, and therefore amendments could be referred as significant proposals under section 38.

The current Act is not clear about the process for referral and assessment of amendments and uses undefined terms such as “revised proposal” and “further proposal” in other sections which are unclear.

A new defined term is created in section 3(1) for a “significant amendment” and new section 40AA provides clarity about the way in which this is assessed and its impact on an existing approved proposal.

Clause 20 Section 40A amended

This clause inserts a new paragraph (aa) into section 40A(1) that allows the EPA to terminate the assessment of a proposal where the proponent gives notice that it does not wish to proceed.

Clause 21 Section 40B replaced

This clause deletes section 40B and replaces it with a new section with updated cross-references.

Clause 22 Section 41 amended

This clause makes amendments to section 41 to make drafting improvements and update cross-references.

Clause 23 Section 41A amended

This clause removes the reference to “revised or further” proposals due to the change in terminology in other sections and updates cross-references.

Clause 24 Section 42 amended

This clause replaces the reference to “Chairman” in section 41(1)(b) with “Chair”.

Clause 25 Section 43 amended

A new section 43(3A) is inserted which provides that a Minister can direct the EPA to assess a proposal even where the EPA has decided not to assess the proposal and the Minister has dismissed an appeal against this decision. This clause also makes drafting improvements and updates cross-references.

Clause 26 Section 43A replaced

The existing test for approving a change to a proposal during assessment, “the Authority considers that the change is unlikely to significantly increase any impact that the proposal might have on the environment”, has been removed. There is no longer a reference to referring a revised proposal to the EPA where the test is not satisfied.

The new provision allows the EPA to approve the change and to consider whether the change is significant enough to justify the re-exercise of any of the powers under section 40.

Clause 27 Section 44 amended

This clause inserts a new section 44(2AA) which provides that the EPA may take into account other statutory decision-making processes that can mitigate the potential impacts of the proposal on the environment.

This clause also updates cross-references.

Division 2 – Implementation of proposals

Clause 28 Sections 45 to 45C replaced

This clause deletes section 45, 45A, 45B and 45C and inserts new sections 44A, 45, 45A, 45B, 45C and 45D.

Part IV Division 2 has been redrafted to improve clarity, and to simplify and improve processes for making changes to approved proposals and their conditions.

The new section 44A contains a number of new definitions for the purpose of the Division.

The new section 45(2) provides that the Minister must determine which decision-making authorities have a role in terms of making major decisions for the proposal that may have significant effects on the environment (key decision-making authorities). The new section 45(4) requires the Minister to consult and attempt to agree with key decision-making authorities.

The new section 45(10) clarifies the effect of appeals against the EPA's report. An agreement cannot be reached during the 21 day period in which a person may lodge an appeal against the EPA's report or while an appeal is pending. If the outcome of the appeal is that the Minister remits the proposal for further assessment, no agreement may be reached until that further assessment is complete.

The existing section 45(6)(b), which deals with the effect of an appeal against implementation conditions, has been removed. An amendment to section 110 clarifies that the Minister gives effect to a successful appeal against conditions by publishing an amended Ministerial Statement. The matter does not come back for agreement under section 45.

A new section 45A has been inserted, which provides for non-exclusive types of conditions that may be imposed under section 45. This includes a condition requiring substantial commencement within a specified period, which is linked to the power to withdraw a Ministerial Statement in section 47A.

The new section 45C creates a process to amend an approved proposal or its conditions.

The Minister may make the requested change without assessment if satisfied that the change is not a significant amendment. A significant amendment means one that is likely, if implemented, to have a significant effect of the environment.

The Minister may also change a proposal or conditions without a request where the change is of a minor nature, and is necessary to correct an error or standardise implementation conditions.

Where the Minister refuses to approve an amendment under section 45C, the proponent may refer the amendment as a significant amendment under section 38. The Minister may also make a request for the EPA to inquire into and report on a change to conditions under section 46.

The new section 45D enables the Minister to divide or consolidate Ministerial Statements for approved proposals under section 45C.

Clause 29 Section 46 amended

This clause inserts a new section 46(8A), which provides that the Minister must only consult and attempt to agree on amended conditions if the amendment might affect the decision-making functions of that decision-making authority.

This clause also updates defined terms, improves drafting and updates cross-references.

Clause 30 Section 46A amended

This clause updates cross-references and gives effect to other provisions.

Clause 31 Sections 46B to 48 replaced

This clause deletes sections 46B, 46C, 47 and 48 and replaces them with new sections 47, 47A and 48. The substantial changes from existing provisions are set out below.

A new section 47(2) allows the Ministerial Statement to be withdrawn under section 47A.

The new section 47A provides that a Ministerial Statement has effect unless it is withdrawn or is taken to be withdrawn. A Ministerial Statement may be withdrawn by the Minister where the CEO gives the Minister notice that a commencement condition has not been complied with.

A Ministerial Statement may also be surrendered by the proponent where the proposal is fully implemented or its impacts can be adequately managed by some other form of regulatory control under a written law.

A new section 47A(7) also provides for Ministerial Statements to be published with fixed terms rather than continuing indefinitely.

A new section 48(7)(a)(ii) allows the Minister to issue a notice in relation to non-compliance which requires the implementation of a proposal to cease for up to 28 days, an increase over the current 24 hours.

Division 3 – Assessment of schemes

Clause 32 Part IV Division 2A inserted

This clause inserts a new section 48AA to provide for regulations prescribing fees and charges for referral, assessment and implementation of proposals under Divisions 1 or 2.

There is no power to impose fees on persons referring proposals or decision-making authorities that are required to refer proposals to the EPA. There is also no power to impose fees in relation to the assessment of schemes under Division 3.

Section 48AA(2) provides that fees and charges received must be used for the costs incurred by the Department in receiving and assessing proposals and monitoring their implementation. This will ensure the fees or charges are not a source of general government revenue.

Clause 33 Section 48A amended

This clause removes the references to decision-making authorities from section 48A.

Clause 34 Section 48BA amended

This clause inserts a new section 48BA. This new section allows the EPA to request further information in order to determine whether or not to assess a scheme, or determine that it is incapable of being made environmentally acceptable. A request for information stops the clock on the statutory timeframes for making decisions.

Clause 35 Section 48B amended

This clause changes “shall, subject to this section” in section 48B(1) to “must”.

It deletes section 48B(2) which requires a public record to be made available for public inspection at specified times and places as future prescribed publishing requirements are likely to be on the internet.

Clause 36 Section 48C amended

This clause deletes section 48C(4) and inserts a new 48C(3A) and (4). It also makes amendments to 48C(5) in line with the amended approach to publication across the Act.

Clause 37 Section 48D amended

This clause amends section 48D(1) to allow the EPA to make recommendations on whether or not the scheme should be implemented and not just the conditions that should be imposed.

This clause also removes the reference to “decision-making authority” from section 48D(3)(b)(iii).

Clause 38 Sections 48F and 48G deleted

This clause deletes sections 48F and 48G.

Clause 39 Sections 48EA, 48F and 48G inserted

This clause inserts new sections 48EA, 48F and 48G.

The new section 48EA inserts defined terms for the purposes of the Division.

The new sections 48F and 48G include drafting improvements that do not change the substantial effect of the current provisions.

Division 4 – Implementation of schemes

Clause 40 Section 48H amended

This clause amends section 48H(1) to incorporate the new defined term “implementation condition”.

Clause 41 Section 48J amended

This clause amends section 48J to incorporate the new defined terms “implementation issue” and “implementation conditions”.

Amendments to Part V of the EP Act – Environmental Regulation

Division 1 – Pollution and environmental harm offences

Clause 42 Section 51 deleted

The new Part V Division 3 removes the restriction that a licence can only be granted to an occupier of a premises. Requiring an occupier (who may not be the licence holder or person in control of an activity) to take reasonable and practicable measures to prevent or minimise all emissions (no matter how significant their impact) is not consistent with the risk-based licensing regime established in the new Part V Division 3.

Division 2 – Clearing of native vegetation

Clause 43 Section 51A amended

This clause inserts defined terms into section 51A for the purpose of the Division. These defined terms were previously in section 51D(1).

Clause 44 Sections 51B to 51D replaced

This clause deletes sections 51B, 51C and 51D and replaces them with new sections 51B, 51C, 51D and 51DA.

The new section 51B provides that, instead of environmentally sensitive areas being declared under a notice by the Minister, they are to be prescribed by regulations.

The new section 51C includes a new paragraph (d) which provides that clearing is not an offence where the clearing has been referred under section 51DA and is done after the person has received a notice from the CEO that a clearing permit is not required.

The new section 51D(3) includes a new paragraph (b) which provides that a clearing permit cannot authorise clearing on land subject to an environmental protection covenant.

The new section 51DA creates a referral system for clearing, similar to the process in Part IV.

Clearing cannot be referred under section 51DA if it is on land subject to an agreement to reserve, conservation covenant or environmental protection covenant.

The CEO may allow clearing to occur without a clearing permit where the proposed clearing meets the criteria set out in section 51DA(4). The CEO's decision must be published. If a decision is not made by the CEO within 21 days, the referrer may request that the application be dealt with as an application for a clearing permit.

An application may also be made directly without a referral.

Clause 45 Section 51E amended

This clause consequentially amends wording in section 51E to ensure consistency with equivalent sections of the EP Act, as amended.

This amendment enables the CEO by written notice to require an applicant for a clearing permit to provide additional information to determine an application within a specified period of time. It also provides the CEO must decline to deal with any application where the applicant does not comply with the requirements of the notice.

The provisions regarding seeking and considering comments have been redrafted and a requirement to publish the application and accompanying information has been inserted.

Clause 46 Section 51F replaced

This amendment clarifies the circumstances in which a clearing application is related to a proposal to ensure that the CEO does not make a clearing decision that would lead to the implementation of a proposal while it is under assessment by the EPA or in contradiction to the agreement reached by the Minister.

Activities such as geotechnical investigative works or hydrogeological investigations or other activities that are necessary to define a proposal or inform the assessment of a proposal are not within the scope of this section and clearing permits may be granted for these purposes.

Clause 47 Section 51H amended

This clause inserts “directly or indirectly” into section 51H(1) before offsetting. This clarifies that indirect offsets such as managing threats to vegetation by eradicating feral animals may be valid offsets.

Clause 48 Section 51I amended

Clause 48(1) makes drafting improvements to section 51I(2)(b) and (c). It inserts new paragraphs (ca) and (cb) into section 51I(2), which allow conditions to be imposed on a clearing permit that require a permit holder to give an environmental undertaking or arrange for a specified person to give an environmental protection covenant.

Clause 48(2) provides that, if a condition of a clearing permit requires a permit holder to enter into an environmental undertaking, the condition can require that the permit holder not cause or allow the clearing until the environmental undertaking is given.

Clause 48(3) introduces new defined terms for the purposes of section 51I.

Clause 49 Section 51J amended

This clause replaces section 51J with a new section 51J which has been amended to reflect updated terminology and cross-references.

Clause 50 Section 51K amended

The EP Act does not currently allow for the amendment of an existing purpose permit to add a new purpose or amend the existing purpose. Clause 49(1) inserts a new paragraph (ca) into section 51K(1), which allows for an application to be made to amend the purpose of a clearing permit. Clause 49(2) makes a minor formatting change to section 51K(2).

Clause 51 Sections 51KA and 51KB inserted

This clause inserts new sections 51KA and 51KB.

The new section 51KA sets out the process for making and determining an application to amend a clearing permit. The process is largely modelled on section 51E (application for a clearing permit). The application must be in the approved manner and form, accompanied by the prescribed fee and contain any required information. The CEO may request further information within a specified time, and may decline to deal with the application if the requirements of the section are not complied with or requested information is not provided. The CEO must approve or refuse the amendment and must publish notice of the decision.

The new section 51KB prevents an amendment to a clearing permit being made during the period in which a proposal is under assessment under Part IV if the amendment is related to that proposal. This is consistent to section 51F which applies to the grant of clearing permits and was previously in section 51M(8).

Clause 52 Section 51L amended

This clause makes drafting improvements and removes paragraph (d) of section 51L, which refers to the surrender of a clearing permit. Surrender of clearing permits will now be dealt with in the new section 51MA.

Clause 53 Section 51M amended

This clause makes consequential amendments to section 51M, which sets out the procedure for amending, revoking or suspending a clearing permit. This section has been amended to be consistent with section 51E (clearing permit applications), including expanding publishing requirements and inserting a power for the CEO to require further information to determine an application.

A new section 51M(8) is inserted which provides that the processes set out in 51M(1) to (7) do not apply to anything done by the CEO under section 110(1) of the EP Act to give effect to a decision of the Minister on appeal.

Clause 54 Section 51MA inserted

This clause inserts a new section 51MA to address the current section 51M under which the voluntary surrender of a clearing permit has the same administrative requirements as revocation, including the requirement for the CEO to give 28 days' notice before the surrender can be effected.

The new section 51MA allows a permit holder to apply to surrender a permit and gives the CEO the power to accept the application for surrender or refuse the application if the CEO is not satisfied that the conditions of the permit have been complied with. If the CEO accepts the surrender, the clearing permit ceases to be in force when written notice is given by the CEO to the holder of the clearing permit. The application and notice of outcome must be published.

Clause 55 Section 51O amended

This clause deletes the definition of planning instrument, which is now defined in section 3.

This clause also provides that the CEO shall have regard to a development approval in considering a clearing matter. The term development approval is defined in section 3 of the EP Act.

Clause 56 Section 51P amended

This amendment inserts a new section 51P(4) which clarifies the relationship between clearing permit conditions, policy and implementation agreements and decisions under Part IV.

Clause 57 Section 51Q replaced

This clause deletes section 51Q and replaces it with a new section 51Q to expand the types of material and information that are required to be kept on the public record.

Clause 58 Section 51R amended

This clause deleted section 51R(1) and (2). These provisions have been moved to a new section 116B which applies to all offences under the EP Act rather than being limited to offences under Part V Division 2.

Clause 59 Section 51S amended

This clause deletes section 51S – clearing injunctions. The provisions have now been moved to a new section 99ZC, which applies to all offences under the EP Act.

Division 3 - Licences

Clause 60 Part V Division 3 replaced

This clause replaces Part V Division 3 to reform the regulation of emissions and discharges under the EP Act and inserts new sections as follows.

Section 52 sets out the terms used in the Division.

Section 53 sets out the purpose of a licence and provides that a licence may authorise and deal with either the carrying out of controlled work or a prescribed activity or both.

A licence may also be granted to carry out an activity that would be a prescribed activity if it met the prescribed threshold.

This provision also makes it clear that the carrying out of prescribed activities may be restricted to premises as defined in the licence. A licence authorising or dealing with the carrying out of work or activity may prohibit, authorise, control or regulate any act, omission, emission or environmental impact related to the work or activity to such extent and in such manner as the CEO considers necessary for the purposes of the EP Act.

Sections 53A and 53B respectively provide that it is an offence for a person to carry out or cause or allow controlled work or a prescribed activity to be carried out unless authorised by a licence. Both offences apply to the licence holder as well as any person directly or indirectly engaged, authorised or permitted by the licence holder to carry out the controlled work or prescribed activity.

Sections 53C and 53D set out the requirements for applications for a licence or for amendment, transfer or surrender of a licence. Applications must be made in the approved manner and be accompanied by information specified on an approved application form. The CEO may require an applicant to provide additional information. The CEO must decline to deal with any application where the application does not meet the requirements of section 53C or the applicant does not provide requested information.

Section 53E sets out the circumstances and manner in which the CEO must notify and give certain persons an opportunity to comment on applications, including expanded publication requirements.

Section 54 provides that the CEO may either grant or refuse to grant a licence and sets out matters the CEO must have regard to when deciding whether to grant a licence including any relevant prescribed standards; any relevant development approval or planning instrument; and whether the applicant would have, and be capable of exercising, substantial control over the carrying out of the work or activity. The outcome of the application must be published.

Section 55A provides that a licence continues in force for the period specified in the licence unless it is surrendered or revoked.

Section 55 provides a power for the amendment of a licence with substantially the same effect as current section 59. The processes and decision-making requirements are consistent with those for an application for a new licence in section 54. In addition, the CEO must have regard to whether the conditions of any relevant licence in relation to controlled works have been complied with.

Section 56 provides for the revocation or suspension of a licence consistent with the scope of current section 59A. Section 56(2) inserts a new power to partially suspend a licence. Additional grounds for revocation or suspension have been inserted where the holder of the licence has not paid the prescribed fee; any required development approval or planning instrument is no longer in force; or the CEO considers that the licence holder no longer has, or is no longer capable of exercising, substantial control over the carrying out of the work or activity.

Section 57 sets out the procedural requirements for a CEO-initiated amendment, revocation and suspensions including providing written notice of the proposed action and giving the licence holder an opportunity to make written representations.

Section 58 provides for notice and publication of any amendment, revocation or suspension.

Section 58A provides that the notice requirements do not apply to anything done by the CEO to give effect to a decision of the Minister on appeal.

Section 58B provides for the effect of a suspension on a licence. A suspended licence may be revoked or transferred.

Section 59 provides for the decision-making requirements for the transfer of a licence. These mirror the processes and publication requirements in section 54 (grant of a licence) and 55 (amendment of a licence).

Section 60 provides for the decision-making requirements for the surrender of a licence. These mirror the processes and publication requirements in sections 54, 55 and 59.

Section 60A is broadly equivalent to the amended section 51F and clarifies the extent to which the CEO is constrained from making a decision on an application where the application is for a purpose that is related to a proposal that has been referred to the EPA under section 38 of the EP Act.

Section 60B includes the provisions currently in section 60. It requires that the grant, amendment or transfer of a licence must be consistent with approved environmental protection policies.

Section 61 deals with the imposition of licence conditions. As well as including the current provisions found in section 62, it provides that additional types of conditions may be prescribed by regulations, and that regulations may prescribe conditions to which every licence, or specified types of licence are subject. Subsections (6) and (7) clarify that a condition may require a licence holder to comply with a requirement to pay waste levy or an environmental monitoring levy under Part VIIB.

Section 61A provides a non-exclusive list of the kinds of conditions that may be imposed on a licence. This section is substantially the same as the current section 62A.

Section 62 provides that it is an offence to contravene a condition of a licence.

Section 63 is a new provision, which provides that a person, other than the holder of a licence who carries out work or activities constituting, or relating to, controlled work or a prescribed activity authorised or dealt with by a licence, commits an offence if they contravene a condition of the licence. This section also deems the licence holder to have committed an offence in these circumstances.
