Subject: Allow hunting in state forests

Hi there,

I think that you should allow hunting in wa forests. This is a cost effective way to control feral species. I believe that there should be controls on the shooting activities in line with other states within Australia.

The vast majority of shooters are sensible law abiding citizens and should be afforded the opportunity to prove this.

The anti gun lobby will try to discredit law abiding shooters in any way possible, especially using fear tactics.

With appropriate controls the risks to people and native fauna can be adequately managed, whilst reducing the feral animal population.

Thanks

Phill
