Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to submit my views on the current inquiry into the RSPCA. I am finding it difficult to believe that one member of parliament can have so much influence as to hold an inquiry on a valuable institution. I live in the country and have often heard and seen episodes of animal cruelty. This is unacceptable in today's modern society. Animals are sentient and there is no excuse for cruelty. The RSPCA is an institution that provides a voice for creatures unable to do so. I believe your inquiry is a witch hunt to denigrate the RSPCA and would like my viewpoint to be addressed as a Valid concern.

Yours sincerely,

Penny Nielsen
