Subject: Recreational Hunting on Public Land

Hi,

I am writing to you please really consider the option of hunters to be able to hunt on public land. Myself originally coming from Victoria was always allowed to hunt on public land over there enabling our families and friends to be able to go out over the weekend for a cheap camping and hunting weekends out. The environmental benefits that hunters give back to the land is enormous. The amount of feral animals that are destructive to our native animals are eagerly hunted by passionate hunters which in return do not ask for one dollar off the government to this task. Whereas the baiting and other methods you guys use all cost money and is less then effective. Think of also the economic benefits for smaller country towns were people will travel to too be able to go shooting. It's a win win situation and cannot see as to why this would be knocked back

Kind regards,
