- (a) did the Minister sign off on this media release, and if not, why not;
- (b) do Mr. Tinapple's comments represent the views of the WA Government;
- (c) what 'activists' or 'activist organisations' is Mr Tinapple referring to in the media release;
- (d) can the Minister provide links or references to the 'misinformation' that Mr Tinapple's claims are being spread by activist groups, and if not, why not;
- (e) if Western Australia's Shale gas resources were to be fully developed, how many wells are estimated to be required by the DMP;
- (f) does the DMP anticipate that more drilling rigs will be brought to Western Australia if shale gas exploration moves to development;
- (g) does the DMP anticipate that the cost of drilling shale gas wells in Western Australia will remain at the current rates if shale gas projects are developed;
- (h) given an independent report recently commissioned by the DMP found that the agency lacks the statutory powers to enforce Environmental Management Plans for gas fracking, does the Minister stand by Mr Tinapple's claim that the regulatory regime is robust;
- (i) can the Minister provide details of the 780 wells that have been fracked in Western Australia since 1958 as stated in the media release:
 - (i) where are these wells;
 - (ii) in fracking these wells, what chemicals were used, what pressures were generated and how much water was used;
 - (iii) can the Minister table the results from groundwater monitoring conducted prior to, and after fracking in each of these 780 wells; and

- (iv) if not, how can the Minister or the DMP be sure that 'there have been no adverse effects on the environment' as a result of this fracking activity as stated in the media release;
- (j) why would the fracking industry remain in the 'proof of concept' phase for the 'next few years' as stated in the media release, if 780 wells have already been fracked successfully;
- (k) can the Minister confirm that in at least one of the wells that has been fracked, in the environmentally sensitive Whicher Range, diesel was used as a fracking fluid:
 - (i) if yes, was all the diesel recovered after the fracking operation;
 - (ii) does the DMP consider that this fracking operation resulted in pollution to the environment; and
 - (iii) has this site been listed as a contaminated site under the Western Australian Contaminated Sites Act, and if not, why not;
- (l) is it correct that fracking operations do not require licensing under part V of the Environmental Protection Act, and if not, why not;
- (m) does the Minister consider that the environmental risks of gas fracking are less than the environmental risks of inert waste landfill sites, iron ore processing, or other industrial processes that do require licensing under the Environmental Protection Act, and if so, why;
- (n) under the current regulatory regime, if well failure following fracking operations in Western Australia does result in groundwater contamination, what enforcement or other action can be taken by the DMP or other government agencies;
- (o) if groundwater contamination occurs following fracking operations approved by the DMP, what liability rests with the State;
- (p) if groundwater contamination occurs following fracking operations approved by the DMP, can the proponent be charged with pollution offences under the Environmental Protection Act;
- (q) what level of groundwater contamination does the DMP believe is acceptable following fracking operations; and
- (r) does the DMP require environmental bonds or other securities to be paid by gas fracking proponents to provide for environmental remediation in the event of compliance failure or insolvency:
 - (i) if not, why not; and
 - (ii) if no to (i), why is gas fracking treated differently from mining operations for which environmental bonds are payable?
