guardian, or under subsection (2)(b) to consult the involuntary inpatient’s parent or guardian, about the matters referred to in complied with if the psychiatrist ensures that reasonable efforts continue to be made to identify the person and consult the person about those matters until the first of these things occurs —

(a) the person is identified and consulted about those
matters;
(b) it is reasonable for the psychiatrist to conclude that the person cannot be identified and consulted about those matters.

    make any inquiries the psychiatrist considers appropriate.

106. Changing involuntary inpatient’s status while inpatient on place of the involuntary community patient’s first appointment (whether with the treating practitioner or otherwise) for the provision of treatment under the order.

115. Monthly examination of patient

(1) In this section —

first treatment period, for a community treatment order, means the treatment period for which the order remains in force as specified in the order under section 112(2);

(i) if the supervising psychiatrist is unavailable; or

(ii) if requested by the supervising psychiatrist under section 116(1).

(3) The involuntary community patient cannot be examined by a practitioner under subsection (2)(b) if more than 2 months has elapsed since the day on which the patient was last examined under subsection (2)(a) by the supervising psychiatrist.

(4) Part 6 Division 3 Subdivision 6 applies to the conduct of an examination under subsection (2).

(5) A practitioner who examines the involuntary community patient under subsection (2)(b) must provide the supervising psychiatrist with a written report of the examination that includes a recommendation about whether or not, having regard to the criteria specified in section 24, the patient is still in need of an involuntary treatment order.
(6) The supervising psychiatrist must put on the involuntary
community patient’s medical record —
   (a) a record of each examination of the involuntary

   community patient to the supervising psychiatrist under section 115(5).

(2) The supervising psychiatrist must consider whether or not the involuntary community patient is still in need of an involuntary treatment order and may make either of these orders —
   (a) if satisfied, having regard to the criteria specified in section 24, that the involuntary community patient is still in need of an involuntary treatment order but not satisfied of the things referred to in section 111(a) and
   (b) — an inpatient treatment order authorising the patient’s detention at the authorised hospital specified in the order for the period specified in the order in accordance with section 84(a) or (b); or
   (b) if satisfied, having regard to the criteria specified in section 24, that the involuntary community patient is no

a report provided to the psychiatrist under section 115(5)
without examining the involuntary community patient.

(4) The order must be in the approved form and must — which Part 9 applies and the supervising psychiatrist is the person responsible for notification of that event under that Part.

Note for section 117:

A community treatment order is automatically revoked under section 113(a) if a psychiatrist makes an inpatient treatment order under section 117(2)(a), or under section 113(b) if a psychiatrist makes an inpatient treatment order under any other provision of this Act, in respect of the involuntary community patient.

118. Continuation order

(1) The supervising psychiatrist may, on or within 7 days before the

(6) Sections 174 and 176 apply (with the necessary changes) in relation to the further opinion.

(7) The continuation order does not come into force or ceases to be in force, as the case requires, if the further opinion —

(a) is not obtained on or within 14 days after the day on which the involuntary community patient’s request is received by the supervising psychiatrist; or
(b) does not confirm that it is appropriate to have continued the community treatment order.

(8) Subsection (7) does not apply if the further opinion is not obtained within the 14-day period referred to in subsection (7)(a) because the involuntary community patient did not attend an examination to be conducted by the psychiatrist who was to have given the further opinion.

119. Varying order

(1) The supervising psychiatrist may, at any time while a community treatment order is in force, make an order varying the terms of the community treatment order in any way that is consistent with section 112 and the supervising psychiatrist considers appropriate.

(2) The supervising psychiatrist may make the order without doing any of these things —
(a) examining the involuntary community patient, but subsection (3) applies in that event;
(b) giving the involuntary community patient notice of a breach of the community treatment order under section 123(2)(b);
(c) making an order to attend under section 124(2).

(3) In making the order without examining the involuntary community patient, the supervising psychiatrist must have

366. Initial review after order made

(1) In this section —

   initial review period, for an involuntary treatment order, means —

   (a) if, when the order is made, the involuntary patient has reached 18 years of age — the period of 35 days from the day on which the order is made; or

   (b) if, when the order is made, the involuntary patient is a child — the period of 10 days from the day on which the order is made.

(2) Unless subsection (4) or (5) applies, as soon as practicable after an involuntary treatment order is made and, in any event, by the end of the initial review period, the Tribunal must review the order to decide whether or not the involuntary patient is still in need of the involuntary treatment order having regard to the criteria specified in section 24.

(3) It is sufficient for compliance with subsection (2) if the review is commenced in accordance with that provision and is completed as soon as practicable.
(4) The Tribunal is not required to review the order under subsection (2) if the involuntary patient has not, under section 368, been an involuntary patient continuously since the order was made.

(5) The Tribunal is not required to review the order under subsection (2) if —

(a) the Tribunal has —

(i) previously reviewed under this Division an involuntary treatment order made in respect of the involuntary patient; or

(ii) previously reviewed under this Division the terms of a community treatment order that a psychiatrist has been directed under section 375(2)(b) to make in respect of the involuntary patient;

subject of the proceeding was made, the involuntary patient was a child — 7 days before the day on which
that period ends.

(2) Unless subsection (4) applies, the Tribunal must, on or within the prescribed number of days before the day on which a periodic review period for an involuntary treatment order ends, review the order to decide whether or not the involuntary patient is still in need of the involuntary treatment order having regard to the criteria specified in section 24.

(3) It is sufficient for compliance with subsection (2) if a review is commenced in accordance with that provision and is completed subsection (2) if the involuntary patient has not, under section 368, been an involuntary patient continuously since the last review day.

Penalty: a fine of $5 000.
