Overview of the Bill

The Disposal of Uncollected Goods Amendment Bill 2015 amends the Disposal of Uncollected Goods Act 1970. The amendment raises the threshold value of an uncollected good at which a business must seek an order from the court to dispose of the item from $300 to $3,500. This means that businesses disposing of uncollected goods valued at less than $3,500 will have a less complex and less costly process to complete in order to lawfully dispose of uncollected goods. The amendment also provides for the threshold value to be amended by regulation from time to time as required.
